Three carloads of ore from Nevada mines were released from the Pioneer sampler yesterday morning. E. I. Sheets has gone to the coast on a business and pleasure trip that will take about two, weeks or his time. There was released from the Taylor & Brunton sampler yesterday nine carloads of ore from Utah and three from Nevada mines.

Tony Jacobson, general manager of the Columbus Consolidated and South Columbus properties at Alta, returned from camp yesterday morning. He says the roads are getting pretty soft and hard to travel over at the upper end, though down the canyon they are in excellent condition. He had nothing to give out concerning mine conditions yesterday, though he declared that everything looked fine.

TINTIC SMELTER DOING WELL

work. In addition to the gold and silver quartz ledges, the same region gives evidence of carrying good copper ores, and in one or two places blowouts of iron, carrying copper, are said to be commanding prominent places in the formation of the district.

Just at present there is considerable snow in the canyons and travel is not as good as it might be. However, there is a good wagon road from Bountiful up, the canyon for a distance of six to seven miles, so that in the event that good bodies of pay ore are opened up there will be no particular trouble in getting the ore hauled down to the railroad and then to the smelters.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK STOCK MARKET REPORTS

Following is the daily market commen of Paine, Webber & Co., Boston, together with the range of prices of copper stock with the range of prices of copper stocks and other Boston listings in which the west is interested, as well as a similar report on New York curb transactions, by James A. Poliock & Co., and from whom it is secured for use in this department it is secured for The Herald:

| Boston, March 18.—Local coppers look better all through the list today. Amalgamated made a new high price, selling at 69, the first time for several weeks. The floor traders were inclined to be bullish, and several of the stocks were noteably active, especially Parrott. We understand that the underground developments at the Parrott are most favorable and the supply of floating stock is very scarce. East Butte showed renewed signs of life today, selling up to 14%. Every day that goes by now brings us nearer to a settlement of the tariff question and when this is out of the way it is the best opinion that we shall have an active and much higher market.

HN STANTON TALKS ON POSITION OF COPPER

A New York special over the Pollock private wires yesterday, quoted John Stanton, the recognized expert on copper markets, as saying the position of the red metal was no worse than it was on the first of the year, as follows:

"In spite of the considerable increase in copper stock on March 1st, as reported by the Copper Producers' association, I believe the copper market is virtually where it was on January 1st, at least in respect to available supply. Much of the visible supply has been contracted for the total sold, running from 100,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds. I should judge. This, of course, is taking exports into consideration, as well as domestic consumption. On the whole, then, the market is no worse off than it was at the first of the year, although a powerful bear element has apparently gained control and put prices lower than is warranted by conditions in general.

"Just how far the downward movement is speculative, it is impossible to ascer-tain with any exactness, but that the speculative element is a strong contribtain with any exactness, but that the speculative element is a strong contributing factor to the copper market at present is a well-warranted conclusion. The sudden break in the market makes it clear that a buying movement of any magnitude by domestic consumers would soon take care of stocks on hand and advance the price of metal.

"Notwithstanding the attractive price of copper at present, consumers have not entered the market to any extent. There is probably more of the metal being taken from day to day than a month ago, but consumption is as yet merely nominal and consumers adhere to the hand-to-mouth policies."
